

April 13, 2007
Oxford, Ohio

Michael Markus

MICHAEL MARKUS is returning to this area to offer classes in West African drumming. An acclaimed performer and outstanding teacher from New York City, Michael is back in the Midwest by popular demand. He travels yearly to Guinea to continue studying their rhythms and culture. These he shares with us back here in the USA. His drum and dance group, MAGBANA, has performed widely, always to enthusiastic audiences. You don't want to miss Michael Markus.

of

Magbana
NYC

Classes offered:

Dunun 6:45 to 7:45 p.m.

$15 to participate; $5 to observe

All levels, but some previous acquaintance with West African bass drums is recommended.

Djembe 8:00 to 9:45 p.m.

$25 to participate; $10 to observe

All levels, but some previous acquaintance with djembe technique is recommended.

Participate in both classes:

$35 to participate; $15 to observe

Some quality Guinea drums, drum accessories, and MAGBANA cds will also be available for purchase.

Location:

3870 Oxford-Millville Rd. (US 27) - Home of the Hop Unitarian Universalist Community.

Approximately one mile south of Oxford, on the east side of the road. Plenty of parking on the premises. (You will rarely find a more comfortable, cozy, and acoustically friendly space for a group drumming experience.)

Kick off your weekend right. Hop on Michael's magic bus and – get energized !!!

